THE ESSENTIALS

Your chart in 2 minutes

SUN

in Pisces

You pick up on what hangs in the air and let yourself be moved. This porousness feeds empathy, but sometimes blurs your own limits.

In the online chart →

MOON

in Virgo

Putting things in order reassures you: a list, a task well done. Worry readily lodges in small details.

In the online chart →

RISING SIGN

Leo

Your presence gets noticed: warmth, bearing, assurance. People then expect you to speak up, even on days when you would rather not.

In the online chart →

ELEMENT

tied

No single element prevails (fire, earth, and water, 3 planets each): tradition would then read the chart first through its trio.

In the online chart →

ASPECT

Venus square Mars

Square between Venus and Mars, within $1^{\circ}50'$: the tightest aspect in the chart, and so the strongest according to tradition.

CHAPTER 5 OF 5

How the energies are distributed

ELEMENTS

MODALITIES

HEMISPHERES

THE ELEMENTS

Several elements tied

Several elements tied: none alone would set the tone. Tradition would then read the chart through its personal planets and the element of the rising sign, rather than through a count.

THE MODALITIES

Mutable modality leads

Dominant mutable modality: a chart that adapts, adjusts, and links two phases. Flexibility can turn into hesitation.

THE HEMISPHERES

5 planets above the horizon, 5 below

Above the horizon, tradition would see a life turned toward the outside; below, toward the intimate. The east would speak of initiative, the west of encounter.

None of these readings describes an event: they report the correspondences of tradition. Keep the notebook within reach for a month; each position has its own page on the site to go further.
